

CONNECTIONS

The individuals and organizations that make up the URI Community in North America are its greatest value and resources. Through the Connections program our goal is to provide you with opportunities to easily connect with likeminded individuals and organizations so you can develop and enhance your efforts in meaningful ways. Our hope is that you will use some of the opportunities below to expand your connections through the URI community.

Please “like” the following Facebook Pages. By doing so you will be kept up to date with activities of URI and many of its Cooperation Circles.

As part of the Connections program URI North America will be convening groups of Cooperation Circles and Affiliates. Some of these groups will be convened by invitation and some will be open to all of the URI Community. Those groups convened by invitation will be gathered to share and develop recommendations on Best Practices within a certain expertise or based on geographic parameters.

Please join us for these unique opportunities to connect with colleagues and likeminded individuals from across the region and please feel free to suggest a program via email to urinorthamerica@uri.org.
